Choice Poetry.

BROKEN HEARTED.

There are troubles dark and dreary,
Hidden in the heart's deep fount,
When the soul of earth is weary,
And life's cares are cast around.

When the eye with brightness beameth,
And a smile plays o'er the cheek,
O then sadness oft times speaketh,
When the tongue will silence keep.

In the brilliant halls of fashion,
Where gay foot-steps lightly tread,
There are found the broken hearted—
There come memories of the dead.

There, too, will the pall of sorrow
Mantle o'er bright, joyous scenes,
With its darken'd, dismal shadows,
And disperse all golden dreams.

O, there's naught in earthly pleasures,
Naught to cheer the spirit's pain—
Naught to keep the heart from breaking,
When to live it would not fain.

There's a magic sound in music
As its echoes soft, and sweet,
Die upon the midnight breezes,
Then for heaven it seemeth meet.

Cords of love are torn asunder,
Old wounds oft are opened new,
Friendship's offerings coldly slighted,
Hatred claims its votaries too.

Gloomy visions o'er life's pathway
Settle, and the glorious light
Dare not steal within their limits—
All seems gone that was so bright.

And, as on through life we journey,
Every path that life may boast,
Few the flowers that bloom beside us—
These are transient at the most.

There are times when death is welcome,
When with charms is robed the grave,
When upon the maddened main
We would sink beneath the waves.

There are struggles—bitter struggles—
That the world knows naught of e'er,
When in secret loathsome places
Hides the victim of despair.

Memories of sweet, happy childhood,
When the heart was free from guile,
Haunt us in our hours of sadness,
Bidding us to hope the while.

Let us look into the future
With a hopeful, trusting eye,
Knowing that our kind protector
Never lets his warm love die.

Miscellaneous.

Domestic Life.

He cannot be an unhappy man who has the love and smile of woman to accompany him in every department of life. The world may look dark and cheerless without—enemies may gather in his path—but when he returns to the fireside, and feels the tender love of woman, he forgets his cares and troubles, and is a comparatively happy man. He is but half prepared for the journey of life, who takes not with him that friend who will forsake him in no emergency—who will divide his sorrows, increase his joys, lift the veil from his heart, and throw sunshine amid the darkest scenes. No, that man cannot be miserable who has such a companion, be he ever so poor, despised, and trodden upon by the world.

Folly of Pride.

Take some quiet, sober moment of life, and add together the two ideas of pride and man. Behold him, creature of a span, stalking through infinite space in all the grandeur of littleness. Perched on a speck of the Universe, every wind of Heaven strikes into his blood the coldness of death; his soul floats from his body like melody from the string; day and night, like dust on the wheel, he is rolled along the heavens, through a labyrinth of worlds, and all the creations of God are flaming above and beneath. Is this a creature to make for himself a crown of glory, to deny his own flesh, to mock his fellow, sprung from that dust to which both will return? Does the proud man not err? Does he not suffer? Does he not die? When he reasons, is he not often stopped by difficulties? When he acts, is he never tempted by pleasure? When he lives, is he free from pain?—When he dies, can he escape the common grave? Pride is not the heritage of man; humility should dwell with frailty, and atone for ignorance, error, and imperfection.—Sidney Smith.

Influence of Music.

Napoleon, confessedly the most consummate General that ever lifted the sword, who by his tactics out-generalled all Europe, had a strict regard to pieces which were played by the soldiers on particular occasions. Certain tunes were prohibited, others used only under peculiar circumstances, only to let loose with a reserved corps; and, it is stated, on making the famous passage of the Alps, under circumstances the most appalling and dreadful, if the soldiers at any time hesitated in their march, he ordered the bugles to sound their liveliest notes; and if the obstacle was so great as to bring the army to a dead halt, the whole band was ordered to peal forth the charges to battle, which never failed to bear them over most formidable difficulties.

A Good Test.

The rule of the road is a very good test of the difference between a gentleman and a blackguard. Whenever we meet a man, whether in carriage or with an ox team, who gives us more than half the road, we respect him as a gentleman. But whenever we meet a young man who drives rapidly on without giving an inch of the road, we pity him as a poor miserable fellow.—The same test may be applied to pedestrians on the pavements, where ladies are frequently and rudely jostled by well dressed blackguards.

Item for Lovers of Champagne.

An American traveller in the streets of Paris, seeing the words, "Wine baths given here," exclaimed:

"Well! these French are a luxurious people." Then, with a true Yankee curiosity, and the feeling that he could afford whatever any one else did, walked in and demanded a "wine bath."

"Feeling wonderfully refreshed after it, and having to pay but five francs, he asked, in some astonishment, how a wine bath could be afforded so cheaply. His sable attendant, who had been a slave in Virginia, and enjoyed a sly bit of humor, replied: "Oh, massa, we just pass it along into anudder room, where we gib baths at four francs."

"Then you throw it away, I suppose."

"No, massa; den we send it lower down, and charge three francs a bath. Dar's plenty of people who aint so berry particular, and who will bathe in it after this, at two francs a head. Den, massa, we let de common people hab it at a franc a piece."

"Then, of course, you throw it away." exclaimed the traveller, who thought this was going even beyond Yankee profit.

"No, indeed, massa," was the indignant reply, accompanied by a profound bow; "no, indeed, massa, we are not so 'stravagant as dat comes to; we bottles it up den, and sends it to 'Merica for Champagne!"

Anecdote of Lorenzo Dow.

They tell a good story of Lorenzo Dow, or a perambulating preacher of his "school," to the effect that riding once in a stage coach on his way to an appointment, he fell in company with some wild young blades, who were led, from his eccentric appearance and manner, to imagine that he was a proper subject for their jokes and raillery. He at once humored their design, by affecting silliness, and making the most absurd and senseless remarks. Upon arriving at the place where he was to stop, they ascertained who their butt was, and began to apologize, observing, in extenuation of their rudeness, that his own conversation had misled them. "Oh!" said he, "that's my way; I always try to accommodate myself to the company I am in; and when I am among fools, I talk foolish!"

A True Lawyer.

Alexander Hamilton was once applied to as counsel by a man having the guardianship of several orphans who would, on coming of age, succeed to a large and valuable estate, of which there was a material defect in the title-deeds, known only to their guardian, who wanted to get the estate vested in himself. Hamilton noted down the faithless executor's statement, and then said to him: "Settle with these unhappy orphans honorably to the last cent, or I will hunt you from your skin like a hare." The advice was strictly followed, and the man who gave it was an ornament to the bar and to the age he lived in.

How to Deal with a Cross Person.

Perfect silence is the only way some persons can keep their tempers, and that to a cross person is often but adding fuel to the flame. A little unexpected act of attention or kindness at such a time, will sometimes surprise your opponent into good humor in spite of himself, and start repentant tears from his eyes. Happy he who can do this, for by every such act of magnanimity does he diminish the distance between himself and heaven.

☞Russell, the singer, was once singing in a provincial town "The Gambler's Wife," and having uttered the words

"Hush! he comes not yet!
The clock strikes one!"

He struck the key to imitate the sudden knell of the departed hour, when a respectably dressed woman ejaculated, to the astonishment of everybody: "Wouldn't I have fetched him home?"

COULDN'T DO IT.—The Cleveland Herald has the following. As a matter of course, it is true:

"Recently, upon the cars running out of Cleveland, a lady was peddling tracts,—a female colporteur. The tract which engrossed her especial attention was entitled, "Give me thy Heart," and was undoubtedly an orthodox and valuable production.—Without a word, she presented it to a quiet looking homo, who read the title, and replied—"No, Madam, I cannot give it; this woman is my wife." The heart-seeker vamosed, and the passengers roared.

☞It is said that many persons, during the late Auroral displays, fancied that they smelt brimstone. We suspect that their consciences were not quite right. There is such a thing as seeing with the eye of faith, and we suppose there is also such a thing as smelling with the nose of apprehension.—Louisville Journal.

☞The Batavia Herald, speaking of a brass band lately organized in that place, says, that it "discourseth music, which, when it comes floating on the soft air, mingled with the moonbeams of a night like that of Saturday last, is mellowed to the tone of the gentlest heart."

We have heard of all sorts of 'mixes,' from a French soup to a Dutch stew, but never anything equal to this Batavian connection. But it is good—music and moonbeams are decidedly good.

☞It is estimated that in Platte county, Illinois, there are thirty-two thousand acres planted this year in corn, which will yield an average of fifty bushels to the acre. At twenty cents per bushel, this crop will be worth three hundred and twenty thousand dollars.

Who Won the Other Game.

The Western boatmen are more or less addicted to the vice of gaming, from the captain to the cook. One night the cooks and cabin-boys were in the galley of the Bunker Hill, having a little game of poker:

Each player had his money on the table before him. The amount thus piled around was something over a hundred dollars.

"I am broke, boys, and must quit," said one of the party.

"I'll lend you some to go on with," says one.

"No. I am going to stop off playing poker. I have been working for you fellows long enough."

"It's all on the square, Charley. If you have any other game that will beat this, we are in," put in another.

"All right, bullies," said Charley, as he left.

It was creeping towards the witching hour; the lamp was burning dim; still the players played on.

About a year before this time, a cook on the boat had been killed by another one, with a butcher-knife, and the report was current that she was haunted.

The players would glance around occasionally, but were too deeply interested in the game to leave.

In the bulk-head, behind the stove, a hole, some two feet square, had been cut to let the air pass through. Had the players looked up to this hole, they might have seen a frightful looking object making its way slowly through, with a whitened face, and a great red gash across the neck.

"I'll bet ten dollars," says one.

"I'll go five better," says another.

"By the ghost of Darby," says one, "I'll make some of you fellows pay for seeing my hand! Twenty-five better.

But, just as he said "ghost of Darby," a deep groan was heard in the rear. There on the top of the stove, stood the ghost of Darby.

As Sut Lovingood says, "a big sheon come on them all at once," and they fled ingloriously from the scene, leaving their money behind them.

But no sooner had they disappeared, than the ghost jumped down and raked the money from the board, saying:

"So you are in on the other game, boys, but you don't happen to win."

Charley wore "good clothes" afterwards.

The boys thought that the other game had been played on them, but said nothing.

SHARP SHOOTING AND SHARPER PRACTICE.—The Fredonia (N. Y.) Censor tells of one of the sharpest betting tricks that we have heard of in some time. A Mr. Jackson Sage made a wager of $500 with some parties in Fredonia, that he could shoot fifty consecutive rifle shots off-hand, at a target of two and one-fourth inches, at the distance of ten rods, without once missing the mark. He accomplished the feat, but did it by setting up a heavy boiler iron funnel, one foot in diameter at the wider end, and tapering to a size less than that of the mark, just in front of the target. He had only to keep his ball within five or six inches of the mark, and the funnel took them home, sure. He had the Yankee impudence to claim the stakes after this performance, and we cannot feel certain that he did not deserve them, for his sharp trick, if not for his sharp shooting.

☞At an early hour on the morning when the heavens were brightly illumed by the aurora borealis, the servant-girl of an eccentric gentleman awoke, and observing the phenomenon, rushed into the house in a most excited manner, exclaiming, "Master, the day of judgment is here—just look at the skies on fire!" The master, who was considerably shocked at the untimely news, sprang from his bed, and hastening to the door, showed, by his fervent supplications, that he, too, was not satisfied with what he saw; but after a moment's reflection, turned upon his heels, walked to his bed, jumped in, and, drawing the covering over him, replied: "Well, Jane, I don't care much if the end has come, for there are a sight of mean men in this town that ought to be destroyed."

☞At the Smithsonian Institution in Washington there has been recently received a specimen plank of the great California pine, well calculated to give an idea of the vastness of that monarch of the forests on the Pacific. The tree it was cut from was twelve feet in diameter, and probably had a height not far from three hundred feet.—The concentric lines showing each annual accretion are plainly marked, and, as read by the scientific eye, are not without value as a record of the comparative temperature of each year of the ages through which the tree survived.

☞A worthy gentleman, whose wife, though an excellent woman, is slightly inclined to the practice of that feminine virtue called loquacity, lost the other day a black pointer, and was speaking to us yesterday of his misfortune. We advised him to advertise the loss. He replied, "oh, I did that immediately." "Why," we answered, "we have not noticed it. What paper was it in?" "None—I told my wife!"

☞A country newspaper recording the running down of a cow on the railway said—"it was cut into calves." An astonished naturalist waited on the editor, for what the auctioneers call "further information," and received it in the following form: "Erratum—For calves, read halves."

Sam Slick on Lawyers.

Few things resemble each other more in natur' than the cunnin' lawyer and a spider. He weaves his web into a corner, with no light behind to show the thread of his net, but in a shade like, there he waits, in his dark office, to receive his visitor. A buzzin', hurrin', thoughtless fly, thinkin' of nothin' but his beautiful wings, and well-made legs, and rather near-sighted withal, comes stumbling head over heels into the net.

"I beg your pardon," says the fly, "I really didn't see this network of your's; the weather is foggy, and the streets so confounded dark, I'm afraid I've done mischief."

"Not at all," says the spider, bowin', "I guess it's all my fault. I reckon I ought to have had a lamp hung out; but pray do not move, or you may do damage. Allow me to assist you." And then he ties up one leg, and then the other, and furls up both wings, and has him as fast as Gibraltar.

"Now," says the spider, "my good friend, (a phrase a feller allers uses when he's a-goin' to be tricky,) I'm afraid you've hurt yourself a considerable sum; I must bleed you."

"Bleed me," says the fly; "excuse me, I'm obliged to you; I don't require it."

"Oh, yes, you do, my dear friend," and he gets ready for the operation.

"If you dare to do that," says the fly, "I'll knock you down, and I'm a man that what I lay down, I stand on."

"You had better get up first," says the spider, a-laughin'; you must be bled; you must pay all the damages." And he bleeds him, and bleeds him, till he gasps for breath, and feels faintin' comin' on.

"Let me go, my good feller," says the fly, "and I will pay you liberally."

"Pay!" says the spider, "you miserable uncircumcised wretch; you have nothing left to pay with; take that!" and he gives him the last dig, and he is a gone coon—bled to death.

THE UPS AND DOWNS OF FORTUNE—Something About the French Emperor.—A San Francisco correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune writes as follows:

In this city there is a person who certainly took a prominent part in effecting the liberation of the Emperor from the prison at Ham; he is now poor and in difficulty. His friends recommended him to write to his imperial friend and try to obtain some grateful recollection of his former services. But another fact is really serious, and illustrates what strange conditions of fortune sometimes fall to the lot of mankind. A gentleman, well known here as a respectable and reliable citizen, as he is a thorough and experienced business man, states that when Louis Napoleon was in New York he was so poor that he was unable to obtain enough to eat, except through the charity of some few friends.

Mr. —— was at the time a clerk in a large importing house in Pearl street, and was intimate with the then needy French adventurer. Napoleon was accustomed to come and sit about dinner time on a window-sill on the opposite side of the street, and there wait for the store to close, when he would accompany his friend, who usually paid for his meal at a neighboring restaurant. Napoleon seldom ventured to enter the store for fear of compromising his friend, both knowing that he would not be tolerated there. Had the proprietors been able to foresee the wonderful and brilliant change destined to occur to his fortunes, perhaps they would have been less exclusive of their policy towards the poor out-cast.

Selfishness.

In the Biblical Recorder, Elias Dodson says: "Selfishness always travels towards self. The selfish man says, I will give nothing to foreign missions, "I am in favor of home missions." Ask him for home missions, he will then be in favor of associational missions. Ask him for this object, and he will be in favor of supporting his pastor. Ask him to support his pastor, and he will refuse, saying he must support his family."

A WORD TO BOYS.—Begin in early life to collect libraries of your own. Begin with a single book, and when you find or hear of any first-rate book, obtain it if you can. After a while another, as you are able, and be sure to read it. Take the best care of your books, and in this way when you are men, you will have good libraries in your heads, as well as on your shelves.—Boys, act upon this advice.

☞A harpoon is described which makes the whale kill himself. The more he pulls the line, the deeper goes the harpoon. —Exchange.

It is thus too with human sorrows.—The more one writhes beneath the dispensations of Providence, or the shafts of social malevolence, the deeper and more inflamed will prove the wound.

Hoops.

We notice in one of our New York exchanges the arrival of a great big ship load—seven hundred tons burthen—of hoops of Parisian manufacture. Let the girls prepare to spread themselves.

☞Two countrymen went into a hatter's to buy one of them a hat. They were delighted with the sample, inside the crown of which was inserted a looking glass. "What is the glass for?" said one of the men.—The other, impatient at such a display of rural ignorance, exclaimed, "What for? why, for the man who buys the hat to see how it fits him."

☞Of all the earthly music, that which reaches the farthest into heaven, is the beating of a loving heart.

What Old Jones Would Fetch.

"Mrs. Jones," said a gentleman, one day, last summer, when railroad accidents were so numerous, to a lady whose husband was a brakesman, "Mrs. Jones, do you not feel worried about Mr. Jones, while he is on the cars, in view of the many accidents that are now daily occurring?"

"We-l-l, n-o—not at all," replied the contented lady; "for, d'ye see, if he is killed, I know I shall be paid for it, because Mr. Williams got $40 for his cow that was run over by the cars a few days since?"

☞A good woman, who is very fond of using large words, sent for us to prescribe for a headache, the result of a violent fall; she assured us that she "fell down," and struck her head "with such exceeding violence on the steps that she wasn't conscientious for some hours." It occurred to us that if falls were productive of that condition a large portion of the human family must be in the daily habit of knocking their heads on the steps.

☞The following slanderous paragraph goes unrebuked: A wag has invented a new telegraph. He proposes to place a line of women fifty steps apart, and commit the news to the first of them as a secret.

☞A young lady whose name was Patty, being addressed by a Mr. Cake, accepted him on the condition that he would change his name, declaring that she would never consent to be called a 'patty cake.'

☞Bennett, it is said, has come out in favor of Gen. Houston for the Presidency. We apprehend that the old General, when he learns the fact, will feel half disposed to exclaim as Buchanan did when Bennett used to abuse him personally—"won't some of my friends cut off the rascal's ears for me?" —Prentice.

NO HONEST MAN.—A letter was lately received at the Chicago Post office, directed "To an Honest Man." The chief-clerk sent it to the dead-letter department, with the candid confession that the man addressed did not live in Chicago.

A VERY DRY NURSE.—The English papers state that the nurse of an opulent family, in London, who rendered her account annually for little etceteras, among other things, put down the modest sum of $1,750 for brandy to sponge the children with.

☞A lady member of an Amateur Musical Society, when arrived at the house of meeting, discovered that she had left her music behind, and had to send for it.—The messenger was told to ask for the loose songs left on the piano.

The lady's old servant, more faithful than quick-witted, on receiving the message, burst out indignantly with, "What! do yer suppose my missus sings loose songs? Get along with yer imperance!" and slammed the door in the messenger's face muttering, as she went up stairs, "Loose songs, indeed!—as if my missus ever sung anything that warn't moral and proper."

MONKEYS SENSITIVE TO RIDICULE.—Monkeys are curiously sensitive to ridicule, being thrown into furious excitement by any mocking gestures or sound. Nothing seems to irritate a monkey more than a grin and a chatter in imitation of its own habits. It will fly at the offender with furious looks and screams of rage, and, unless restrained by chains or bars, would be likely to inflict some damage by its sharp teeth.—It will remember the person of its tormentor with singular tenacity of memory, and will be thrown into a state of angry agitation even by the sound of the hated voice.

☞Old customs are rooted in and upheld by ignorance. Men cling to them because they are old, when, could they trace them to their origin, they would be ashamed to recognize them.

END OF AN ADVENTUROUS LIFE.—Major Robert Ellis, formerly of Washington city, was found dead in bed at New Orleans on the 8th inst. He was engaged with Lopez in Cuba, and received a wound in an engagement that prevented his escape.—He was pardoned by General Concha.—When Walker was in such a straight in Nicaragua he attempted to reach him with Col. Lockridge's party, and led the assault on Fort Castillion, where he was struck in the forehead by a Minnie ball, which made the circuit of his head and came out near the spine.

THE HARVEST IN EUROPE.—The Vienna Gazette of September 24th says it was expected that the harvest would prove good, but the yield is so bad that the price of wheat has risen considerably. In as far as wheat is concerned, the foregoing remark applies to the countries lying on the Lower Danube, as well as to Austria. In the Banat, the so-called "granary of Austria," not much above a third of the usual quantity of wheat was grown.

☞A bill is pending in one of our western legislatures to empower women to make contracts. They should by all means be authorized to contract—they have been expanding too much.

☞Rats are becoming an unendurable pest to farmers in Illinois. In Saline county the corn crop has suffered seriously from their depredations. In other counties they are equally numerous, entering the cornfields in swarms, and threatening them with entire destruction.

A GRACEFUL CORRECTION.—"The proper study of mankind is woman."

DEATH OF WM. S. REES, THE STREET PREACHER.—Wm. S. Rees, famous in the West a few years since as a street preacher, died at Keokuk, Iowa, last week, leaving a fortune of $150,000. He had led a singular life. An Englishman by birth, he left college at the age of sixteen, master of eight languages; came to New York in 1830, entered into mercantile business there and amassed a competency, which he lost in the panic of 1837, and then became a wanderer; visiting other countries, and appearing occasionally in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Cincinnati; seemingly (says the Cincinnati Gazette) without any definite purpose, and earning by various means of labor sufficient to keep him above want. This was the period when he engaged much in preaching in the open air. He subsequently went to the West, and obtaining some money, fortunately invested it in a farm situate on the outskirts of Keokuk. This, at all time, was one of the cities to which emigrants and speculators flocked in great numbers. Rees took advantage of this, divided his farm into lots, and sold them so advantageously that in the course of two years he realized quite a fortune. At the time of his death his property was valued at $150,000. From the time he left college until the day of his death he was opposed to all churches, believing that the Gospel should be preached in the streets. In 1853 he established the Keokuk Post, and subsequently started the Doniphan Post, in Kansas.

THE CLERGY AND TOBACCO.—Rev. George Trask, the anti-tobacco apostle, who has delivered so many lectures and written so many books against the Indian weed, says that the clergy of New Hampshire are united in favor of its abolition, the "sin" of tobacco consumption having been fully discussed and condemned in the ministerial conference of that State. In a recent letter he writes:—

"A statement was made at a late convention of the Congregational churches of New Hampshire, that not one pastor in the whole connection used tobacco. This is a gain on the statistics of last year, for then it was stated that there was but one who was known to be a devotee to the weed; that one, I think, has since disappeared by reason of death, and hence our brethren can now, without boasting, claim complete exemption from this pernicious weed."

☞It is related in some of the writings of past time that the Indian mode of administering justice was to whip the witness and let the criminal go. A system not much unlike this exists in this age of civilization in the great State of New York. An instance is given in which a ticket swindler was admitted to bail, whilst the informer, a poor German, was sent to jail and has been kept there for months because the Court was not ready to try the case, and the victim was unable to give surety for his appearance as a witness.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM A PANTHER.—The Pittsburg (Pa.) Evening Chronicle states, that a few nights ago, Mr. Charles Beatty, of Armstrong township, Indiana county, while returning home with his sister from Shelocta, on horseback, was attacked by a panther, which sprung on his horse's hind quarters, but was dislodged by the animal's plunges. They then rode rapidly homeward, followed for some distance by the wild "varmint."

SHOT BY A DOG.—One day last week Mr. John Avent, of Nash county, (N. C.) living within a mile or two of Halifax line, came suddenly to his end by the accidental firing of his gun. It appears he had, with his dog and gun, (a double barreled one,) gone out hunting. His dog having treed a squirrel, he shot and killed it. On stooping to take up the squirrel it is supposed that, as he was in the act of raising himself, his dog reared upon him, and in coming down hit the trigger of the undischarged barrel, which was no doubt full sprung, causing it to fire, and killing Mr. Avent almost instantly—the charge passing through one side of his head.

WAGES IN CALIFORNIA.—A San Francisco writer, of late date, says the following are about the rates of wages now paid:—Carpenters from $4 to $7 per day; bricklayers and masons from $4 to $6; blacksmiths, wheelwrights, machinists, painters, tinsmiths from $3 to $4 50; common laborers $3; farm hands from $30 to $40 per month and found; cooks from $30 to $60.

MEN IN MASKS.—The city of New Orleans is overrun at night, by men in masks, who commit all sorts of outrages. The Bee says: Many families living in the portion of the city infested by these masked men have become seriously alarmed, and are afraid to walk the streets after dark.—Many of them are afraid to speak of the matter lest the maskers should wreak vengeance upon them.

HEAVY DAMAGES.—A breach of promise of marriage in California is a serious affair. A bad fellow, named Nicholas Matthewson, recently neglected to consummate his oft-repeated vows to Elizabeth Hildebrand, and Miss Elizabeth demands $20,000 from the naughty Nicholas, as a salvo for her lacerated heart.

☞A celebrated writer says: No woman can be a lady who can wound or mortify another. No matter how beautiful, how refined, how cultivated she may be, she is in reality coarse, and the innate vulgarity of her nature manifests itself here. Uniformly kind, courteous, and polite treatment of all persons is one mark of a true woman.

CHINA.

The London Post is fierce for war on a grand scale against China. It says:

"The events of last June have dispelled all our premature dreams, and shown us that we have a very arduous, long, and costly work to do before the diplomatic relations which were agreed to can be acted upon, and before the advantages that were expected to ensue can be realized. That work is neither more nor less than a war of invasion. We have to insist that the treaty shall be carried out in all its integrity, and material guarantees surrendered for its perpetual observance. To do this we must assemble a large army and a powerful fleet at the mouth of the Peiho and on other parts of the Chinese coasts. We must assail the whole empire this time. We must push our forces into the interior and storm the capital.

A correspondent of La Patrie, attached to the French Embassy in China, remarks:

"With regard to England, she is too practical not to reflect seriously on the lesson of the Peiho, and not to admit that, if an outrage calls for reparation, and if such reparation is due to her, her own interests demand the application of as much prudence as firmness. If, by an exaggerated national sentiment, as I think it, England should not think it necessary to introduce into her future relations with China some modification of her old mode of action, she may expose herself to the danger of provoking such isolated re-awakenings as this of the Pechele; and thus, ever on the dangerous and uncertain declivity of a serious war with a country of three hundred millions of inhabitants, she may compromise, together with her own cause, that of Christianity and civilization. She will not do it."

It is stated that the Mongol troops who defended the works of Takou form part of the Imperial Guard, the effective strength of which is about 50,000 men:

"These troops are superior to all the others of the army, and have in their ranks the best gunners and the best bowmen in the whole empire. In the hands of the Mongols the bow becomes a wondrous instrument, and several English marines were killed under the walls of the fort by the men armed with bows and arrows. The works of Takou were executed in a remarkable manner, the old fort being flanked by raking batteries well constructed, and armed with pivot guns, the fire of which was well directed, and the range changed according to the movements of the vessels.—The Mongols served the guns like well-drilled artillerymen. It also appears that they made use of grape, and that they fired some hollow shot, which proves that they possess howitzers. These details are curious, as showing how much the Chinese, who are so remarkable for their talent of imitation, have improved since the visit of the Allied forces about a year ago."

WHAT THE WAR COST.—The two months campaign in Italy can scarcely be said to have been a cheap amusement for any of the parties concerned. The Allgemeine Zeitung figures up the cost to the neutral Powers who were required to make preparations for contingencies, in the following table:—

Austria about	£20,000,000
France	20,000,000
Piedmont	4,000,000
Other Italian States	800,000
Russia	1,200,000
England	880,000
Germany	5,120,000
Total	£52,000,000

This makes the snug little aggregate of $260,000,000—or nearly one-third of the whole national debt of England.

AMERICAN COMMERCE IN ASIA.—From the statement of Mr. Collins, Consular Agent at Amoor river, in Asiatic Russia, it appears that American commerce at the Amoor is steadily increasing. Five American built steamers are now plying on its waters, which are navigable for steamboats two thousand five hundred miles.—The commercial products of that region at present consist principally of furs and minerals, but it is thought that when navigation shall have developed the internal resources of the country, trade will be proportionally increased. From Moscow to the head of the Amoor are upwards of five hundred cities, towns and villages.

American Board of Foreign Missions.

At the meeting of this body on Thursday the Rev. Dr. CHEEVER presented a memorial and petition, to be sent to the United States Congress, setting forth that the memorialists are an incorporated body, and that they are engaged in the propagation of the gospel in foreign heathen lands and among the Indian tribes of this country, by supporting missionaries, diffusing a knowledge of the Holy Scriptures, establishing schools, and in all proper ways extending the blessings of civilization and Christianity. It says one of the principal obstructions to the progress of civilization and the extension of Christianity in Africa is the domestic slave trade, which owes its origin and prevalence chiefly to the foreign slave trade, which introduces intoxicating drinks and implements of cruelty and death, stirs up contention among the tribes, produces vast and desolating wars, and leads to the most debasing vices and crimes; so that it is a well-established fact that the excess of barbarism on the west coast especially is the effect of the foreign slave trade; that in the interior, beyond the reach of this influence, the negroes are far more civilized, industrious, and peaceful. The memorialists ask that the law against the foreign slave trade be rigorously enforced, and the honor of the country saved from the disgrace of its continuance. The memorial was referred to the Business Committee.

A "Fashionable Wedding" in New York.

The New York papers contain long accounts of the ceremonies attending the marriage of Don Esteban Santa Cruz De Oviedo, a Cuban millionaire, to Miss Frances Amelia Bartlett, the daughter of an ex-Lieutenant in the United States navy, which took place on Thursday morning at Saint Patrick's Cathedral in that city. As a matter of some curiosity we copy the following particulars from the Commercial:

The engagement was announced some months since, when it was stated that the wealthy Cuban met the accomplished lady and straightway becoming enamored of her, proposed and was accepted. He immediately proceeded to lavish upon her all that his wealth could command, and stories were rife as to the cost and magnificence of the bridal presents she was to receive. Uppertendom was alive with expectations in view of the approaching nuptials. The Cuban, however, progressed with the preparations for the wedding, and continued to shower upon his adored all the gifts that his immense wealth could command. Probably so aristocratic a wedding has not taken place in New York for years as the present one, and consequently all who were so fortunate as to be blessed with an acquaintance with the family assiduously sought an invitation to the ceremony. Nearly all the Spanish gentlemen in the city received cards, and it is stated that no less than three thousand invitations were issued.

It is stated that the cost of the presents made by Senor Oviedo to his affianced is certainly $35,000, if not more. The trousseau consists of seventy-five dresses and other "arrangements" to match, and cost some $10,000. The bridal dress is a "miracle of elegance" and exquisite taste, and cost $2,000. The pair of diamonds that confine the bridal veil was made to order at Tiffany's. The friolera of $49,000 cash was paid for on delivery.

The ceremony in the Cathedral commenced at twelve o'clock, but as early as nine the throngs began to assemble and pour into the church. A police force under command of Capt. Williamson was present, and had as much as they could do to preserve order. The guests, who had cards of admission, passed in at the main entrance to the Cathedral in Mott street, and here the street was filled with people, all waiting their turn to pass the door. By eleven the church became jammed with human beings, but yet they continued to squeeze in, regardless of the damage done their garments or inconvenience to themselves. Hundreds who had no tickets of admission gathered on the outside, in the street, and even on the housetops to get a standing place, hoping thereby to see the bridal party as they entered the church.

They entering by the Mulberry street side caused much disappointment to the crowd. When the cathedral filled so that there was no possibility of getting any other living being in, the reaction commenced, and the push was frightful between those who wished to retire and those who wanted to get in. In the confusion several dresses were torn and ruined. Ladies fainted and were dragged out, gentlemen pushed till red in the face and nearly dead with suffocation.

Inside the cathedral every available space of standing room was filled, and it was estimated that not less than five thousand persons were in the building. The altar was lighted up with wax tapers, and in the interval, while waiting for the bridal party to arrive, the organ played several airs.—Outside the cathedral the throng must have numbered all of five thousand persons, three-fourths of whom were ladies.

At precisely twelve o'clock the bridal party arrived and entered the cathedral.—The procession consisted of ten carriages of the latest and newest style, with colored drivers in black coats and pants, white vests and gloves and gold bands on their hats.—The bridal party consisted of the father and mother of the bride, the bridal pair, and six bridemaids, with six bridemen. The bride with her father entered the space in front of the altar first, then came the bridegroom with the mother of the bride, after which came the bridemen and bridemaids.

The bride—who looked as beautiful as an houri—was clothed in a dress of white satin with point lace flowers. An elegant veil of point lace extended from her head, where it was surmounted by a wreath of orange flowers, to her feet, and extending, with the train of her dress, some short distance beyond. In her hand she had a fan of point lace, adorned with pearls and diamonds.

The bridemaids, six in number, were clothed two in white, two in blue, and two in cherry colored tarleton dresses with double skirts. The dress of the bride cost over five thousand dollars, the lace and veil costing over four thousand. The dresses of the bridemaids cost about one hundred dollars each. The bridegroom is a small man, of dark complexion, and apparently about forty years of age. He was dressed in white vest and gloves, black coat and pants. The bridemen were similarly dressed.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Archbishop Hughes, assisted by Vicar General William Starrs, Rev. John McAvoy, Rev. Francis McNierny, Rev. Thomas S. Preston, Rev. John Woods and other priests.

After the ceremony the reception took place from 1 to 3 P. M., at the residence of the bride's father, No. 39 West Fourteenth street. Two thousand invitations to the reception were issued. The bridegroom is said to be worth $4,000,000. He owns large sugar and coffee plantations in Cuba, and negroes without number.

GREAT FIRE AT CONSTANTINOPLE.—Constantinople journals of the 14th of September state that a dreadful fire had destroyed upwards of one thousand houses in the Turkish capital. It broke out in the quarter of Hass-Keni, built like an amphitheatre, on the one side of a hill, and inhabited by 30,000 Jews, and from the houses being of wood, the flames spread with the most frightful rapidity, and in a very short time upwards of 60 inhabitants were destroyed. The fire was then, most persons thought, got under, but on the next day it again burst out afresh, and very nearly 1,000 houses more reduced to ashes. The inhabitants were seen running half naked through the streets seeking shelter, and more than six hundred families, who lost all they possessed, are encamped on the hill. The Sultan ordered a number of military tents to be supplied to afford them temporary shelter.

THE ADAMS SENTINEL,

GETTYSBURG:

MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1859.

Thanksgiving Day.

The Governor of this State has appointed the 24th day of November, as a day of general Thanksgiving & Praise to Almighty God, for the numerous blessings which have been bestowed upon us during the past year.

Grand Illumination at Petersburg.

Our friends of the glorious YORK SPRINGS DISTRICT, are to have a celebration on Thursday evening next, (we learn from the "Star,") in honor of the recent brilliant victories of the People's Party in this County, and the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota. It is likely to be a splendid "Demonstration," as that paper informs us Delegations will be present from various points in the County. The one from Gettysburg will leave at 2, P. M. The People's Brass Band will be there, and fine speaking, and a "fine time" may be expected. We are not informed as to particulars; but we hope it will be a celebration worthy of that gallant District. They deserve, and we hope they will receive, the countenance of our friends everywhere, on that occasion.

☞The Compiler says the Democratic ticket would have been elected, if there had been a full vote!

The vote polled is the largest ever known in the County, and nearly 600 over last year's vote, when we had the same excuse given for the Democratic defeat. The truth is, the Democratic party have not a majority in the County. We know many of our voters who were not out, in Reading, Butler, Menallen, York Springs, Abbottstown, Cumberland and other districts.

Last year, the Compiler SIGHED for a poll of 5,000. It has it, and now it calls for a vote of 5,400. This is the merest trifling. The figures prove, what we have always maintained, that Adams is not a Democratic county. The Compiler is unwilling to admit this; but he will, ere long, be FORCED to acknowledge it.

☞The Compiler says that Col. KUHN was beaten by Mr. MUSSELMAN's large vote at Millerstown. That was not the only district in which Col. KUHN was "cut" by the Democrats. In several districts he received votes of the "People's Party;" yet such was the extent of the Democratic cutting, that he is behind his ticket in these districts:

Gettysburg,
Littlestown,
Hunterstown,
Mountpleasant,
Union,
Cumberland,
Menallen,
Franklin,
Freedom,
Butler.

Besides this, Mr. KUHN received People's votes in Oxford, Berlin, Mountjoy, Hampton and Union, as appears from the official figures.

There was counter-cutting in several districts, which does not appear from the returns. They only give net results. Judging from these, there were 59 Democrats who "cut" Col. KUHN. Allowing for the People's vote he received, he must have lost the votes of nearly 80 of his Democratic friends. This is about the number of Democrats who "cut" CHARLES WILL last fall, and doubtless for the same cause.

☞The Legislature will stand as follows: In the Senate, People's 21, Democrats 12—majority 9. In the House of Representatives, People's 65, Democrats 35—majority 30; making 39 majority on joint ballot for us.

☞We have official returns from all the counties of the Commonwealth except Venango. In these counties the majority for Cochran is 17,106, and Keim 18,134.

17th Senatorial District---Official.

Where are the Democratic Majorities?

At the late election, Westmoreland gave but 360 for Wright, and Berks 1193; Perry gave 7 for Cochran. These were Democratic strong-holds. The Democratic party is demoralized every where in the North, and defeat stares them in the face.

☞They talk at Hanover of having a grand military display there on the 22d of November, and in the evening a grand civil and military soiree and festival.

☞The New York Herald, one of Mr. Buchanan's organs, says: "The Democratic party—the late all-powerful national democratic party—has, we apprehend, finished its career. The recent Northern elections, from Pennsylvania to Minnesota, all tell the same story of its demoralized and sinking condition. We presume that New York and New Jersey will sing the same music in November, and that thus the opposition will be found in the substantial occupation of every Northern State this side the Rocky Mountains."

As a candid confession is said to be good for the soul, we hope the Herald feels 'good.' We do.

York County.

The home and stumping ground of our gallant standard bearer, THOMAS E. COCHRAN, has done nobly. In a vote of 10,186 Mr. Cochran was only beaten 220, and a Republican member, FREDERICK SULTZBAUGH, was elected to the Legislature by 505 majority! beating George Washington Welsh, democrat. But with all this, darkness reigns in some quarters. Look at the vote of two townships:

	Wright.	Cochran.
Codorus,........................	311	3!
Manheim,........................	151	0!!

☞The receipts of the U. S. Treasury, in the week ending on Monday last, amounted to $1,136,000. The drafts issued amounted to $1,540,000. Excess of payment, $404,000. There are about 4½ millions in the Treasury. Things look squally in Washington—thanks to the extravagance of the Administration.

Good News from Minnesota.

This flourishing young State, the only one in the North-west of which the sham-democracy have been able to retain possession, has at length come forward and ranged herself under the banner of Republicanism. Our latest advices assure us of the election of ALEXANDER RAMSEY as Governor, and the whole Republican State ticket, including members of Congress and a majority of the Legislature. Governor Ramsey is a native Pennsylvanian, and lived in Harrisburg.—He was rightfully elected Governor two years since, but was cheated out of the office by barefaced fraud and corruption. His majority this time is so decided that his enemies will not be able to repeat the nefarious operation. Mr. Donnelly, the Lieutenant-Governor elect, is also a Pennsylvanian by birth, and was formerly an active democratic politician in Philadelphia. We gain a Republican Senator in Minnesota, in place of Gen. Shields, whose term expired last spring. Well done for Minnesota!

☞In Iowa, Kirkwood, the Republican candidate for Governor, is elected, and the Legislature is Republican in both branches.

KANSAS ELECTION.—A correspondent at Lawrence says that the majority for the adoption of the new State Constitution will reach six thousand. The election for State officers, under the Constitution, will take place on the 6th of December.

FOR LIBERIA.—The colonization packet Mary Caroline Stevens will leave Baltimore on the 1st of November for Monrovia, thus offering an opportunity for the transmission of letters and papers to the Liberian settlements and for the African squadron.

☞On Sunday last, the Rev. Mr. Kummer, of the Moravian Church, of Lancaster, baptized the infant child of Dr. Jonathan Folz, U. S. N., the water used on the occasion having been brought from the river Jordan by Lieut. Lynch, of the Dead Sea Expedition, and by whom it was presented to the Doctor. We presume this is the first instance of a child being baptized with water from the Jordan.

Close Voting.

A number of instances of close voting at the recent election, have come under our notice. For instance, in the 11th Legislative district of Philadelphia, Isaac A. Sheppard, Opp., is elected over John S. Riehl, Dem., by two votes! In the Westmoreland district the Republicans lost a legislative candidate by six votes, and one in Schuylkill county by twenty-four votes. In Adams county we elected a member by eleven votes.

☞The barn of Mr. Peter Brown, in Myers' district, Carroll county, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 12th inst., together with all its contents, comprising a large amount of grain, hay, three cows, calf, six shoats, and all his farming implements. It was the work of an incendiary. No insurance.

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 15.—A large new stable attached to the U. S. barracks, at this place, was destroyed by fire last night, with fifteen horses and a quantity of feed.

The notorious Capt. Cook, who fled from Harper's Ferry, was at Chambersburg on Friday. He was pursued, but made his escape. Parties have been out on his track. It is supposed that other fugitives are in the neighborhood, and efforts are being made to ferret them out.

☞Ex-Governor Dunlap, of Maine, Past General Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch Masons of the United States, died on Friday last, at Brunswick, Maine.

A SHOCKING CASE.—In New York, on Thursday, a police officer was attracted to a house by the piteous cries of children. On entering, he discovered the dead body of a woman, with her three helpless offspring weeping around the body because they could not awaken her. She died from intemperance! Her husband is now in the penitentiary, as an habitual drunkard.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Detectives Allen and Wise telegraph from Philadelphia that they have seized an establishment and a gang of coin counterfeiters and arrested parties who have lately been flooding the country with spurious dollars, halves and quarters.

☞We have had frost and snow within the last few days—an evidence that old winter is at hand.

The Difficulty at Harper's Ferry.

Harper's Ferry, (Virginia) was the scene of an extraordinary affair last week. The accounts are confused and contradictory; but these appear to be the facts:

On Sunday night, the 16th, a band of armed men, numbering probably 22, seized the Government Arsenal, where large quantities of arms are stored, and took possession of the town, stopping the Railroad trains, and cutting the Telegraph wires, with the view, it is supposed, of capturing the Government offices, and the money they contained. The marauders captured a number of the prominent citizens of Harper's Ferry and vicinity, and held them as hostages. They pressed many negroes into their service, and some of the whites painted themselves black. One negro, connected with the Railroad Company, was shot, while attempting to escape the demands of the outlaws. They held possession of the town until Tuesday morning, when troops arrived from Washington, Baltimore, Frederick, and elsewhere, aroused by the exciting rumors which had reached all points of the compass, and magnified the affair into a most appalling scene, of slave insurrection, with all its horrors. The outlaws were soon driven into the Arsenal, where they were strongly fortified, and had the citizens whom they had taken prisoners, with them. They were summoned to surrender, but refused. The troops were afraid to use cannon, which would soon have been effectual, lest the citizens whom they had in confinement, would be killed. It was then stormed, and a hand to hand fight ensued, in which several lives were lost, and the insurrection quelled.—The rioters consisted of 17 whites and 5 negroes. The leader was Capt. Brown, late of Kansas, who appears to have adopted this plan of fomenting an insurrection, to revenge himself for wrongs suffered by himself and family in Kansas. During the difficulty, he said to the crowd: "If you knew my heart and history, you would not blame me." He is an old but vigorous man, and was badly wounded, as was one of his sons. Another son was killed. The second principal was a man named John E. Cook, who has resided in and near the Ferry for many years. Both lived on a farm in the vicinity, and carried on their preparations so quietly that no suspicion of their purpose was entertained.

The whole affair was evidently the offspring of a diseased mind—one frenzied by a sense of wrongs inflicted. In Kansas, Capt. Brown was terribly injured by Missourians. His wife was outraged by a company of marauders from that State, and became insane in consequence. His family was broken up, and his property destroyed. He sought revenge by making several expeditions through Southern Kansas, and failing to gratify h's feelings, sought this mode of revenge.

The North American gives the following view of his motives, and a general sketch of the results:

Of the motives which prompted this movement we have some hint. Brown was the leader of the Kansas people, at Osawattomie, where his son was murdered by Missourians, and his home destroyed. These events found him a moderate man in his views, and left him, so far as we can judge by his subsequent acts, bold, violent, unscrupulous, reckless and turbulent. Not content with the peace which had been established in Kansas, he attempted a desperate raid upon the Missouri border, and it is wonderful that he escaped death. Revenge upon the southerners seems to have taken complete possession of Brown. As he could not free the slaves in Missouri, which he tried, he hit upon this last scheme of freeing the slaves in Maryland and Virginia.

It was the freak of a man whose wits had been crazed by his domestic calamities.—And yet he seems to have found followers as reckless as himself; how many is still uncertain, though twenty or thirty would probably be the largest number of whites concerned in the outbreak. So far as we can make it out, the plan was to seize the town of Harper's Ferry and the government armory and arsenal, and hold them as a fortification, to which the slaves from the neighboring country might come and be organized for military operations. There are always stored at Harper's Ferry about eighty thousand stand of arms, and with these and abundance of ammunition, it would be easy to arm all the slaves who might rise. To prepare for a rising, Brown and his associates organized a secret conspiracy among the negroes, and about two thousand were expected to join.

Every thing must have been carefully arranged, for on Sunday night a band of insurgents was collected together, and before daybreak had moved so silently and expeditiously that the whole town was in their possession; and especially they had seized the government armory, arsenal, and pay office, in which it is stated there was a large sum of money deposited. Upon rising from sleep in the morning, the people of Harper's Ferry found themselves surrounded by an organized mob of whites and blacks, and sentinels posted at all the leading points.—Affrightened at the unusual aspect of things, the inhabitants mostly fled, carrying alarm and dismay all through the adjoining country. Those who remained or resisted were captured and imprisoned in the armory, among them being several leading citizens of Virginia.

To prevent the spread of the news the insurgents cut down all the telegraphic wires. The bridge over the Potomac river was seized, armed men stationed at both ends, and all passage forbidden. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad passes the place, and to prevent this being used to bring a hostile force against them, the insurgents stopped the running of the trains. The news, however, was taken to Baltimore by a train which they allowed to go through in order to carry the warning not to send any more cars.

At first the intelligence of this rising was discredited; but, as soon as it was ascertained to be true, the Administration at Washington took prompt measures to send troops to suppress the disturbance. Three companies of infantry were sent from Fort Monroe and one company of marines from Washington, commanded by experienced military officers. From Baltimore several companies of volunteers were sent. Gov. Wise, of Virginia, issued a proclamation ordering out a regiment of volunteers, and sent an express horseman to ride through the country nearest Harper's Ferry and summon the people to arms. A company was sent from Fredericksburg. The most exaggerated notions prevailed along the Potomac respecting the importance of the rising, and apprehensions of danger were entertained at Washington, Alexandria, and other places.

After accomplishing their purpose of seizing the town and armory, the insurgents awaited reinforcements. They expected about 1,500 negroes to join them, but none came. Perceiving thus that the scheme was a failure, a large portion of the negroes started northward, accompanied by some white men, while the rest remained behind to prevent pursuit. They entrenched and fortified themselves in the armory, and the place was too strong to be taken without artillery, which could not be used against it for fear of killing the citizens of the town held as prisoners there. At last a force of railroad-men and others gathered from the vicinity, attacked the armory, took it, and after a desperate battle captured all the insurgents, some of whom were killed, and nearly all wounded. Bodies of men were then sent in pursuit of the fugitives. In the fight at the Ferry, Brown's son was killed, and himself mortally wounded. And thus ended this extraordinary affair. For the negroes who were misled into believing that by such a proceeding they could achieve their freedom, we have no sentiment but pity. But for the wretched fanatics who got up the scheme no punishment would be too severe.

Brown says that none were concerned in the plot but those accompanying him.—His son said that others, at the North, were implicated. The following among the citizens and soldiers were killed: Fontaine Beckham, Haywood (negro porter at Railroad station), Thos. Barnley, Evan Dorsey, Wm. Richardson, Geo. W. Turner. Several were wounded. Of the 22 rioters, 15 are killed, 2 wounded, 2 are unhurt. Three went off on Monday morning. About 1000 men arrived at the Ferry about noon. A large quantity of arms of various kinds were found at Brown's house, near the Ferry.

The surviving rioters have been taken to the jail at Charlestown, Va., by direction of Gov. Wise, (who was at the Ferry) under charge of the U. S. Marines. They will be tried there, and all the facts developed. The case is a most remarkable one, and the men engaged in it have been guilty of a high crime, for which they deserve, and no doubt will be, suitably punished.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19.

The following important intelligence from Harper's Ferry has just been received.—Last evening a detachment of Marines, accompanied by some of the volunteers, made a visit to Capt. Brown's house. The first visit was to the school house, and not Brown's residence as supposed yesterday. They found a large quantity of blankets, boots, shoes, clothes tents, two boxes of Sharp's rifles, 1,500 pikes with large blades affixed, and also discovered documents throwing much light on the affair. Among them are the printed constitution and by-laws of the organization, showing or indicating a ramification throughout the various states of the Union, and they also found letters from various individuals at the North—one from Fred. Douglas, containing ten dollars from a lady for the cause—also a letter from Gerritt Smith, about the matter, and a check or draft by him for $100, endorsed by the cashier of a New York bank, whose name is not recollected. All these documents are in the possession of Gov. Wise. The Governor has issued a proclamation offering $1,000 reward for the capture of Cook. A large number of armed men are now scouring the mountains in pursuit of him. The following is the anonymous letter received by Gov. Floyd, of which mention has been made:—

"CINCINNATI, Aug. 20, 1859.—Sir: I have lately received information of a movement of so great importance that I feel it to be my duty to impart it to you without delay. I have discovered the existence of a select association having for its object the liberation of the slaves at the South, by a general insurrection. The leader of the movement is old John Brown, late of Kansas. He has been in Canada during the winter, drilling the negroes there, and they are only waiting his word to start for the South to assist the slaves. They have one of their leading men (a white man) in an Armory in Maryland; where it is situated I have not been able to learn. As soon as everything is ready, those of their number who are in the Northern States and Canada are to come in small companies to their rendezvous, which is in the mountains in Virginia. They will pass down through Pennsylvania and Maryland and enter Virginia at Harper's Ferry. Brown left the North about three or four weeks ago, and will arm the negroes and strike the blow in a few weeks; so that whatever is done must be done at once. They have a large quantity of arms at their rendezvous and probably distributing them already. As I am not fully in their confidence, this is all the information I can give you. I dare not sign my name to this, but trust that you will not disregard the warning on that account.

List of the Insurgents.

Whites.—General John Brown, Oliver Brown and Walter Brown, of New York; Aaron C. Stevens, Connecticut; Edwin Coppee, Iowa; Albert Haslett, Pennsylvania; William H. Leeman, Maine; John D. Cook (not arrested) and Samuel Taylor, Connecticut; Charles P. Tidd, Maine; William Thompson and Dolph Thompson, New York; John Kaigle, Ohio, (brought up in Virginia;) Jerry Anderson, Indiana.

Negroes.—Dangerford Newbury, Ohio—formerly of Virginia; O. P. Anderson, Pennsylvania; —— Emperor, New York—formerly of South Carolina; Lewis Leary and —— Copeland, Oberlin, Ohio—formerly of Virginia.

Old Gen. Ossawatomie Brown and Aaron C. Stevens are still alive. They lie in their beds guarded, and none but the surgeons and attendants are allowed to enter the rooms. Brown has nine wounds, and Stevens three wounds on his person. Edward Coppee is unhurt, and with the negro Copeland was yesterday taken to the jail at Charlestown, Va. Emperor, also negro, is in chains at Harper's Ferry.

These five are the miserable remnant of the fanatical band.

The Governor's Interview with Old Brown.

On Wednesday morning Gov. Wise, accompanied by District Attorney Ould and several others, visited this remarkable man in his bed room. Brown was propped up in his bed, evidently suffering great pain from his numerous wounds, but with his mind collected, and looking calmly about him, now and then giving vent to a groan. The Governor, after questioning him several times, got him into a talkative mood, and he voluntarily made the following important disclosures:

"I rented the 'Kennedy Farm' from Dr. Kennedy, of Sharpsburg, Washington county, Md., and named it after him. Here I ordered to be sent from the East all things required for my undertaking. The boxes were double, so no one could suspect the contents of them, even the carters engaged in hanling them up from the wharf. All boxes and packages were directed to J. Smith & Son. I never had more than 22 men about the place, but I had it so arranged that I could arm, at any time, $1,500 men with the following arms: 200 Sharpe's rifles, 200 Maynard's revolvers, 1,000 spears and tomahawks. I would have armed the whites with the rifles and pistols, and the blacks with the spears, they not being sufficiently familiar with the other arms.

"I had plenty of fixed ammunition and enough provisions, and had a good right to expect the aid of from 2,000 to 5,000 men at any time I wanted. Help was promised me from Maryland, Kentucky, North and South Carolina, Virginia and Canada.—The blow was struck a little too soon. The passing of the train (Phelps, on Sunday night,) did the work against us—that killed us. I should not have let it pass. But I only regret I have failed in my designs, but I have no apologies to make or concessions to ask now. Had we succeeded, when our arms and funds were exhausted by an increasing army, contributions would have been levied on the slaveholders and their property appropriated to defray expenses, and carry on the war of freedom. Had I known government money was in the safe here I would have appropriated it."

Old Brown here appeared quite exhausted, and leaned back in his bed, looking calmly around. Governor Wise told him he had better be preparing for death, to which Brown responded that he (the Governor), though he might live fifteen years, would have a great deal to answer for at last, and had better be preparing now too.

Another Fallen Minister.

The descent to hell is easy. The Rev. Dr. Wm. M. Daily was tried a few days ago at Bloomington by the Indiana Conference, and expelled, by a vote of sixty-three to sixteen, for drunkenness and lewdness. What a commentary on the dangerous consequences likely to result from the slightest departure from the path of clerical dignity! Dr. Daily was formerly President of the Bloomington University. For many years he ranked high as a minister in the Methodist Episcopal Church; he gradually, however, connected himself with the outside world, and his sacred calling was often forgotten amid the revelry and corruption of politics; at a later stage he acquired a taste for the fatal bowl; finally he was conquered by a passion for women. The fault was his own; he had for many years walked so near the edge of the pit of ruin that in an unlucky moment he was carried down the precipice.

☞The New York News says, in noticing the tragic end of Senator Broderick: The day he left New York for California, in 1849, we met him on the steps of the old banking house of the State of New York. He had drawn his last dollar from that institution. He said to us, "Good bye; I'm off for the land of glory."—"Where are you going to, Dave?" we asked. "To California—never to return until I come back a Senator of the United States." We laughed at this remark, considering it the grandiloquent boast of a reckless, desperate youth, who had as much idea or chance of actually carrying it into execution as he had of becoming King of England. He said to us last winter: "How strange it is that after fighting all my life to become a Senator I don't care a button for it. It has no charms for me; what is it after all? I am not happy." What a commentary are these remarks upon human greatness, as productive of human happiness!

☞The Journal of Commerce says the following letter was received by the Secretary of an Insurance Company in New York, in response to an advertisement for a bookkeeper. The writer thoughtfully inclosed a leaf cut from an old account book, as a sample of his work. Either the applicant is an original genius, or a wag of the first water:

"BIG TAGER, Wilkes Co., Ga.

"MY DEAR SIR: I am a wanting of a situation in bookkeeping, and Mr. Shirman said how that you would like to get me in your office. If so please answer to oncet. I send you a specimen of my single entry, but I can keep em double as well. I am all of a tremble, having just been done licking a nigger.

"From yours truly,
F. S. HIRSHFELDER."

DEATH FROM POOR WHISKY.—A man named Michael Wallman died near Newark, N. J., on Thursday, from poor whisky. He bought his whisky by the barrel generally, and diluted it, but a few days before his death had been buying it at twelve cents per quart. Hence, the coroner's jury gave a verdict of "death from apoplexy, caused by the free use of poor liquor, bought at 12 cents a quart."

Death of the American Minister to France.

The North Briton brings intelligence of the sudden death of the Hon. John Y. Mason, United States Minister to the Court of the Emperor of France. He died of apoplexy, in Paris, on the 3d inst.

Mr. Mason was a native of Virginia, and graduated at the University of North Carolina, in 1816. He was elected a Representative to Congress in 1831, and served three terms; was appointed Secretary of the Navy by President Tyler, and afterwards Attorney General, and, subsequently, Secretary of the Navy by President Polk. In 1853 he was appointed Minister to France, by President Pierce, and resided in Paris until the time of his death. He was an amiable, dignified and courteous gentleman, and had many personal friends.

The decease of Mr. Mason leaves vacant one of the most important missions in the gift of the President, which has been earnestly looked to by a number of aspiring politicians ever since the inauguration of Mr. Buchanan.

Bloody Engagement.

A bloody engagement, between whites and Indians, took place recently, on the Arkansas river, near Fort Smith. There were seventeen Indians on one side, and five Americans, two unarmed, on the other. At the end, eleven Indians were killed, and Pool, an American, was shot with an arrow, which he had cut out; and after performing incredible feats he was finally killed in a third attack. Sawyers and Bradley, of the same party, shared the same fate, and out of the five but one escaped.

EXCITEMENT IN CHESTER, ILL.—A few days since a gang of runaway slaves crossed the river from Missouri to the vicinity of Chester, Illinois, and were soon afterward pursued by and overtaken by a party of Missourians. The slaves being armed showed fight, and one of their number was killed and two others badly wounded. A resident of Chester was arrested by the authorities of that town, on suspicion of being connected with the fight, and lodged in jail, without any examination. At last accounts a large body of Missourians, said to number five hundred armed men, were on their way to Chester to demand his release.

☞Somebody speaking of the hurrying propensities of the Yankees, says: "If a big mortar could be constructed, which would throw an immense bomb shell, containing fifteen passengers, from St. Louis to Boston, in five minutes, with an absolute certainty that fourteen would be killed by the explosion, tickets for sale by the 'Express Bomb Shell Line,' would at once be at a premium, each passenger being anxious for the chance to prove himself the 'lucky fifteenth.'"

☞The carriage driver of Chief Justice Lowrie, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, has been fined $25 at Pittsburg, for driving his employer to church on Sunday. The offending driver, it appears, was employed by the Judge to attend his garden and drive his carriage, at a stipulated price per month; but the mayor decided that driving to church on Sunday was a matter of convenience, and not a work of necessity or charity, and therefore was a violation of the law against worldly employment on Sunday, which law excepts cases of necessity or charity. The mayor's decision decides several similar cases in that city.

☞The note of the Sardinian government to the European courts forcibly sets forth the arguments in favor of a strong and independent kingdom of Upper Italy, sufficiently strong to keep in check the domineering tendencies of Austria. Such a State would, it is urged, tranquilize the mind of Europe and fulfill the wishes of those Italian countries, which have lately shaken off a tyrannical government.

Letters from Naples say the King had offered to land troops to support the Pope, in consequence of the withdrawal of the French.

☞John A. Washington has "suspended." It was stated some time since, that he had invested $175,000 of the money he had received for the sale of the home of his great ancestor in corner lots in Chicago.—The presumption was that he had paid over the cash for them; but it seems that he gave his notes for them, and they have gone to protest.

☞The potato rot is making sad havoc in several neighborhoods in Burlington, Gloucester and Salem counties, N. J.—An extensive grower in the latter county puts down his loss at the big figure of $100,000. One farmer in Gloucester county has lost his whole crop, amounting to hundreds of bushels, while in other neighborhoods it has been less destructive, but none of the fields have entirely escaped. In Camden county, some of the farmers, who had housed their potatoes before the equinoctial storm came, expect to save their crops, while those which were out in that rain are pretty generally expected to be affected by it. Monmouth county has also suffered from the same cause.

A LUCKY PURCHASE.—A man in New York recently bought a clock at auction for fifty cents. About a week ago he sold the clock to another man, who, after taking it home, discovered that a looking-glass in the back of the clock was broken. He took out the glass to have it replaced by a new one, when he discovered notes of the Bank of England to the amount of ten thousand dollars. It is reported that the heirs of the estate to which the clock belonged are going to commence an action for the recovery of the money.

☞The English papers publish an interesting letter from Kossuth, expressing earnest grief at the Villafranca arrangements at the moment when the deliverance of his country was within reach. He says he returns to England again a poor exile, only ten years older from bitter pangs of disappointment. He derives some consolation, however, from the events of the war, and is strengthened in the conviction that Hungary will yet be free. He states that he insisted on a double stipulation in behalf of the Hungarian prisoners of war who were enrolled under his banner, viz: That of amnesty and that of exemption from further Austrian military service. France has obtained these conditions from Austria.

A Wife's Heroism

The burning of the stables of J B Monnot, of Westchester county, N Y, one of the most extensive breeders of blood stock in this country, has been published, but the following account of the fire and the heroic conduct of Mrs Monnot in saving the horses, as related in the New York Spirit of the Times, is so interesting that we copy it

"It appears that on the morning of Tuesday, the 4th inst, Mr Monnot left home with the intention of going to Albany to attend the State Fair, leaving his place in charge of his wife Shortly after noon, while the men were yet at dinner Mrs Monnot discovered dense smoke issuing from the stables, she was alone with her women—not a man within call—the blood horses, worth nearly $100 000, were in imminent danger For a moment she was paralyzed, but soon recovered her presence of mind to perform what she considered a religious duty—to save her husband's property even at the risk of her own life Starting her women in various directions in search of assistance, she alone rushed into the stables from the sides of which the flames were by this time bursting in every direction Logan, the pride and pet of her husband was the first to be saved, to unchain and lead him to the door of his box was but the work of an instant, but terrified at the flames which met his sight he rushed back to his stall and resisted every attempt to lead him out, until, when nearly exhausted by her exertions Mrs Monnot succeeded in blindfolding him with part of her dress, when he became tractable, and submitted to be led to a place of safety

The foremen and helpers of the farm at last arrived, and soon had every h[illegible] turned out Now commenced a scene the wildest and most appalling eye ever witnessed—The stables, which were sufficiently extensive to accommodate one hundred and fifty horses, and barns containing over one hundred tons of hay, were completely enveloped in flames The horses, which in the excitement of the moment, without regard to sex or age were turned into a small enclosure, maddened by fear, commenced fighting furiously, kicking biting and tearing each other in a fearful manner making it dangerous and apparently foolhardy in the extreme to attempt to separate them The foreman, however, watching his opportunity succeeded in catching by the mane one of the most furious, a two year old colt which reared and plunged at such a rate that the man was soon sent flying under the heels of the other horses Mrs Monnot again exhibited her nerve and courage by entering the enclosure and seizing the brute by the nose, she held him until the man had recovered himself and procured a halter, with which the animal was secured

Old Sylphide by Emilius bred by R L Stevens, now owned by Mr Monnot was very near being lost, she was surrounded by flames, and had to be taken out through a hole cut in the side of her stable Having secured the stock to the best of her judgment Mrs Monnot sent an express messenger to convey the tidings of the calamity to her husband who was intercepted just as he was on the point of embarking for Albany On hearing the news his thoughts were not on his loss but on his wife His first exclamation was 'My God and that poor woman is all alone!' He little thought that that poor woman all alone had really saved his immense property "

A SCOTT & SON'S

Latest News!

The great excitement in Gettysburg this season
Is caused by PICKING'S CLOTHING, all new and freshly made
His goods are all fresh his styles are all new
Just drop in and see and you'll find this is true
If you want a fine coat he has every shade
Blue brown and black, all well trimmed and made
And his large stock of pants comprises all colors
The finest of Cassimeres Doeskins and others
And a row of his vests all the patterns are new
Of fine silks and satins and velvets not a few
His stock is too long to enumerate here
In a word he has all that gentlemen wear
He has also a stock made expressly for youth
And his mode of dealing is fairness and truth
And the best of it is—'tis the fact (not my rhymes)
He is selling at prices to SUIT THE HARD TIMES
You'll always find Clothing in quality rare
Made up of materials for service and wear
Then give him a call and you'll find him on hand
In Chambersburg street, right at his old stand

Excelsior Sky-Light Gallery,

NORTH-EAST Corner of the Diamond, (in the upper story of the Old County Building recently purchased by Col. Samson,) Gettysburg, Pa.—The undersigned, having fitted up the above named Gallery, with the intention of locating a FIRST CLASS establishment, are now prepared to furnish the best Ambrotype and Photographic Likenesses in the latest styles, by new and improved processes. Having had several years' experience in Philadelphia they feel confident of giving entire satisfaction to all who may favor them with their patronage. They have constructed one of the best Sky-lights in the country, which, with the best Instruments and materials, cannot fail to produce, at all times, superior work. Ambrotypes, Spherotypes, Melainotypes, and Patent Leather pictures, on the most reasonable terms, in cases or frames, of the latest patterns and best quality.

PHOTOGRAPHS.—This style of picture has become the favorite in cities, on account of its life like appearance and perfect durability; being put up in neat gilded frames of various sizes, are more acceptable as family portraits than the smaller pictures. They have not been generally introduced until recently, in consequence of the difficulty of their production, and the necessity of long and tedious sittings, which have been overcome by F. J. Evans' new improved process, the entire right for the use of which we hold for Adams county. The time of sitting has now been reduced from minutes to a few seconds and greater beauty and perfection given to the likeness. They possess this important advantage over the other pictures, viz:—from one sitting any number of Photographs can be supplied without further trouble to the sitter, and all as perfect as the first impression.—These pictures are furnished Plain, finished in India Ink, Water or Oil Colors.

Life Size Photographs, finished in Oil, superior to oil paintings.

ENLARGED PHOTOGRAPHS.—Persons having small daguerreotypes of deceased friends can have them enlarged by this process, and finished superior to the original, thereby rendering them more life-like and durable.

Pictures set in Lockets, Rings, &c., &c.

All pictures warranted to give satisfaction, or not taken.

SANFORD'S
LIVER INVIGORATOR,
NEVER DEBILITATES.

IT is compounded entirely from Gums, and has become an established fact, a Standard Medicine, known and approved by all that have used it, and is now resorted to with confidence in all the diseases for which it is recommended.

It has cured thousands within the last two years who had given up all hopes, as the numerous unsolicited certificates in my possession show.

The dose must be adapted to the temperament of the individual taking it, and used in such quantities as to act gently on the bowels.

Let the dictates of your judgment guide you in the use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR, and it will cure Liver Complaints, Bilious Attacks, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhoea, Summer Complaints, Dysentery, Dropsy, Sour Stomach, Habitual Costiveness, Cholic, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Flatulence, Jaundice, Female Weaknesses, and may be used successfully as an Ordinary Family Medicine. It will cure SICK HEADACHE, (as thousands can testify,) in twenty minutes, if two or three Teaspoonfuls are taken at commencement of attack.

All who use it are giving their testimony in its favor.

MIX WATER IN THE MOUTH WITH THE INVIGORATOR, AND SWALLOW BOTH TOGETHER.

Price One Dollar per Bottle.

—ALSO—

SANFORD'S
FAMILY
CATHARTIC PILLS,
COMPOUNDED FROM

Pure Vegetable Extracts, and put up in GLASS CASES, Air Tight, and will keep in any climate.

The Family Cathartic PILL is a gentle but active Cathartic which the proprietor has used in his practice more than twenty years.

The constantly increasing demand from those who have long used the PILLS and the satisfaction which all express in regard to their use, has induced me to place them within the reach of all.

The Profession well know that different Cathartics act on different portions of the bowels.

The FAMILY CATHARTIC PILL has, with due reference to this well established fact, been compounded from a variety of the purest Vegetable Extracts, which act alike on every part of the alimentary canal, and are good and safe in all cases where a Cathartic is needed, such as Derangements of the Stomach, Sleepiness, Pains in the Back and Loins, Costiveness, Pain and Soreness over the whole body, from sudden cold, which frequently, if neglected, end in a long course of Fever, Loss of Appetite, a Creeping Sensation of Cold over the body, Restlessness, Headache, or weight in the head, all Inflammatory Diseases, Worms in Children or Adults, Rheumatism, a great Purifier of the Blood, and many diseases to which flesh is heir, too numerous to mention in this advertisement. Dose, 1 to 3.

PRICE 30 CENTS.

The Liver Invigorator and Family Cathartic Pills are retailed by Druggists generally, and sold wholesale by the trade in all the large towns.

Fire and Water Proof
ELASTIC CEMENT ROOFING.

THE undersigned having purchased the right of W. E. Child & Co's Patent Fire and Water Proof Elastic Cement Roofing, for Adams county, they respectfully announce to the public that they are prepared to contract and put on the above roofing at the shortest notice, in the best manner and on the most reasonable terms.

It is perfectly Fire and Waterproof, and in point of durability is equal, if not superior, to any Metallic Roofing. It can be put on over tin, tar, iron, or shingle roofs, however flat or steep they may be.

In point of resisting the elements of fire and water, nothing has yet been discovered equal to the Elastic Cement.

Those who have used it, have testified that it is the very perfection of Roofing, and that there is no further room for improvement.—No one will now think of putting on shingles, when this Cement can be had for much less money and will outwear four shingle roofs.—This Roofing is warranted as represented.

The Elastic Cement is the cheapest and best protection from decay for wood exposed to the weather or dampness of the ground. It is also the best paint for iron, effectually preventing rust; and wherever applied perfectly excludes dampness.

We have the Cement for sale in quantities to suit all. The Railroad buildings, the Warehouse of John Hoke, and a number of private buildings in this place, have been covered with it, where it can be seen. For further particulars apply to

GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
DR. HOOFLAND'S BALSAMIC CORDIAL,

The great standard medicines of the present age, have acquired their great popularity only through years of trial. Unbounded satisfaction is rendered by them in all cases; and the people have pronounced them worthy.

Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Debility of the Nervous System, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered liver or weakness of the stomach and digestive organs, are speedily and permanently cured by the GERMAN BITTERS.

The Balsamic Cordial has acquired a reputation surpassing that of any similar preparation extant. It will cure, WITHOUT FAIL, the most severe and long-standing

Cough, Cold, or Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Influenza, Croup, Pneumonia, Incipient Consumption, and has performed the most astonishing cures ever known of Confirmed Consumption.

A few doses will also at once check and cure the most severe Diarrhœa proceeding from COLD IN THE BOWELS.

These medicines are prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON & Co., No. 418 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and are sold by druggists and dealers in medicines everywhere, at 75 cents per bottle. The signature of C. M. JACKSON will be on the outside wrapper of each bottle.

In the Almanac published annually by the proprietors, called EVERYBODY'S ALMANAC, you will find testimony and commendatory notices from all parts of the country. These Almanacs are given away by all our agents.

CELEBRATED
AND LIVER PILLS.

WE beg leave to call the attention of the Trade, and more especially the Physicians of the country, to two of the most popular remedies now before the public. We refer to

Dr. Chas. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills.

We do not recommend them as universal Cure-alls, but simply for what their name purports, viz.:

THE VERMIFUGE,

For expelling Worms from the human system. It has also been administered with the most satisfactory results to various Animals subject to Worms.

THE LIVER PILLS,

For the cure of LIVER COMPLAINTS, all BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS, SICK HEAD-ACHE, &c. In cases of FEVER AND AGUE, preparatory to or after taking Quinine, they almost invariably make a speedy and permanent cure.

As specifics for the above mentioned diseases, they are Unrivaled, and never known to fail when administered in accordance with the directions.

Their unprecedented popularity has induced the proprietors,

FLEMING BROTHERS,
PITTSBURGH, PA.

to dispose of their Drug business, in which they have been successfully engaged for the last Twenty Years, and they will now give their undivided time and attention to their manufacture. And being determined that Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills shall continue to occupy the high position they now hold among the great remedies of the day, they will continue to spare neither time nor expense in procuring the Best and Purest material, and compound them in the most thorough manner. Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS. Pittsburgh, Pa.

P.S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros. will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros. Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

☞For sale by A. D. BUEHLER, and all other Druggists.

DR. S. FELLER'S
FAMILY MEDICINES

ARE the only preparations of the kind placed before the public under the name of ECLECTIC. They are called Eclectic because they are carefully and scientifically selected—the best from all the good—and approved by the most scientific men in the United States. They do not contain any Mercury, Antimony, or Opium, or anything that would be deleterious to the most delicate constitution.

All who understand the curing of disease know that medicines only assist nature, and unless they act and harmonize with nature, disease cannot be cured. Want of a proper knowledge of these facts causes many of our fellow citizens to go down to an untimely grave.

I can therefore recommend this preparation with the utmost confidence, and am fully persuaded, from past experience at the bedside of the sick, that it will give very general, if not universal satisfaction. Yet, at the same time, I do not pretend to say that it is a CURE-ALL, or that it is, in all cases and circumstances, infallible. For when a remedy is set forth as "Cure-All," "Infallible," &c., the conclusion with me is irresistible, that the proprietor himself believes his remedy to be a humbug, and designed from the start to deceive the public.

SAMUEL CRONCE,

Wholesale Agent, York Sulphur Springs, Adams county, Pa., and for sale by Dr. Buehler, Gettysburg; J. S. Hollinger, Heidlersburg; Jacob King, Hunterstown; and Jacob A. Gardner, Petersburg.

We would say to the public, that all we want is a fair trial, and it will recommend itself.
